

B1
amended
to a sense of rotation of said product folding cylinder for engaging a next product's front portion after a cutting operation.

18
18. (Twice Amended) Folder apparatus comprising at least one fold roller in operative communication with a product cutting device having:

a pinless product folding cylinder for flat material, said product folding cylinder rotating about an axis of rotation and having a surface supporting an incoming material;

a cutting cylinder cooperating with said product guiding cylinder and having knife assemblies mounted thereon; and cyclically engageable product seizing elements assigned to at least one of said product folding cylinder and said cutting cylinder. and being moveable opposite to a sense of rotation of said product guiding cylinder for engaging a next product's front portion after a cutting operation.

B2
19
19. (Twice Amended) Rotary printing press comprising a product cutting device having:

a pinless product folding cylinder for flat material, said product folding cylinder rotating about an axis of rotation and having a surface supporting an incoming material;

a cutting cylinder cooperating with said product folding cylinder and having knife assemblies mounted thereon; and at least one cyclically engageable product seizing elements assigned to at least one of said product folding cylinder and said cutting cylinder and being moveable opposite to a sense of rotation of said product [guiding] folding cylinder for engaging a next product's front portion after a cutting operation.